

AK91, theory updated to 2026: the human-capital return as a supply-demand skill price

A. The return is a time-varying skill price, not a constant

B. The race between education and technology

